

We start with the most efficient furnace on the market.
Then we get serious.

American Standard is redefining smart energy use with the Heritage Hybrid™ Comfort System. When winter's at its worst, it warms your home with the cozy heat of a high-efficiency natural gas furnace. In cooler weather, an ultra-efficient two-stage heat pump gives slow, steady warmth. Then, when the weather warms up, the system operates as an energy-efficient air conditioner. It's built to keep you comfortable and save you money. And since it's built by American Standard, you know it's built to last. Contact your local independent American Standard dealer for more. And less.
